TUF-SKIN VALVES

Product Change Bulletin

1-1-2014

We are phasing in a small change on the keyway of our Tuf-Skin butterfly valves. This change will in no way affect the retrofit of old and new parts. New gears will still fit old valves and vice versa.

The new keyway will capture the key and prevent the key from sliding up the valve shaft. This will eliminate the need for a spacer bushing in the top of the TNO that we have used to ensure the key stays in place.

Here are pictures of the old style and new style “captured” keyway:

The new captured keyway is also being phased in on the VSE shafts.

The old keys with square ends can be used in the new keyway, but may need to be cut down to fit between the radius ends.

This change is being phased in as our old inventory is sold out. On some sizes this might take up to a full year, depending on inventory levels and sales amounts.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact your district sales manager, representative, or our customer service department.
